

Delegation of power by Data Protection Commissioner

The Data Protection Commissioner may delegate any investigating or enforcement power conferred on him/her by the Data Protection Act to an officer of the office or to a police officer designated for that purpose by the Commissioner of Police.